ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURY. Miss Diana M. Wild, 22, of Belleville, center on stretcher, is removed from her overturned auto and is carried to a waiting ambulance at 7:15 a.m. Sunday in the 1900 block of Edwardsville road at McCambridge Avenue, Madison. She was admitted for observation at St. Elizabeth Hospital with bruises and lacerations to both legs. Van Damme apparently was uninjured. (Press-Record Photo)

Nameoki election reversal?

While a new Nameoki Town Board of Auditors is to be seated tonight, it appears certain that it will be up to the courts to interpret the outcome of the April 5 township election and to name the name township officials.

While no official tallies were kept, a lengthy discovery review of the ballots case in the election was held Saturday and Sunday and there were indications that Mrs. Helen Hawkins and Andy Besserman may have won trustee posts while Jerry Adams, who is to be seated tonight, may have failed to garner enough votes to be elected.

Defeated supervisor Louis Whitsell also is predicting he will regain his post after a court challenge.

The election tally and the canvass showed Adams the third highest vote getter for the four trustee positions with 1,499 votes, eight more than Mrs. Hawkins and Besserman, who tied with 1,491 votes each in the original tally.

A drawing was held to determine whether Mrs. Hawkins or Besserman should win the fourth spot on the board and Besserman won the drawing. He is to be seated tonight. (Continued on Page 16)

PURE WATER PROGRESS. New arrivals at Granite City Steel's water treatment complex are these four portable oil skimmers. The newly-manufactured skimmers will remove oil from mill waste water before the water enters the treatment plant now under construction. They are rope-type skimmers which separate oil from water by means of a continually-moving rope to which the oil clings. The skimmers will go into operation as soon as electrical connections can be completed. The water treatment plant, which will allow GC Steel to discharge its water into Horseshoe Lake cleaner than Illinois standards require, is expected to be completed in line with the timetable established in the water discharge permit approved by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Okay, you've just bought a citizen band radio. Now what do you do?

What channel are you going to stand by on? That depends on where you live. There are definite channels in each area. For example, Granite City in general stands by an channel 5 (27.015).

However, the area breaks down even further. West Granite is on channels 4, 5 and 17, North Granite is channel 7, East Granite is almost always on 5.

Of course, these are general standbys. You will find Granite City people on every channel.

Channel 1881 is generally reserved for the younger (18 and under) CBers.

Madison mainly stands by on channel 4, but there are a bunch of the channel 5 crowd living in Madison.

Parts of Venice and East St. Louis and much of St. Louis is on 6. Mitchell is on 7 and 8.

Channel 9 is always for emergencies and 19 is used on the highway.

There are also many clubs that stand by on specific channels.

The Firetrails are mainly on 5, and a group called the Round Table hang out on 7.

A sideband club stands by on 12. The Free Spirits run 3, and they are the local "react" monitoring club.

As I say, there are local (Continued on Page 21)

Senior hot line—medical bills

Office of Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal

Q. What is the way to get help with huge medical bills?

A. To get medical assistance one needs to make an application to the Department of Public Aid in your country.

For a single person who is over 65 or blind or disabled and who has less than $400 in assets, when the medical bills exceed the difference between income and $178, the individual will find it useful to be in touch with the department.

Q. Can you tell me how the privilege tax is figured?

A. The square footage is based on outside dimensions of the mobile home, not including the length of the tongue and hitch. For a model of the years 1975 through 77, the tax is 15 cents per square foot.

For the years 1972 through 74, multiply 13.5 per square foot. For 1969 through 1971 models, the tax is 12 cents per square foot.

The amount decreases to 7.5 per square foot for models 15 years old.

The tax on mobile homes is for the current year rather than (Continued on Page 18)

Films to trace life from '20s to '70s

Movies that represent the mood of a decade are the theme of this year's film series portion of the Mississippi River Festival, held on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"We tried to pick six films that represented their eras," said Dennis Crook, a sophomore at SIUE who led the group of film buffs that chose this summer's selection. "Starting with the Roaring '20s, we wanted to let people see movies very representative of the times."

Crook's group picked "Wings," a 1929 drama about the consequences of war, as the opening film, slated for showing Thursday, June 30.

"Wings was the first Academy Award winner," said Crook. "And Gary Cooper has a cameo role in it that started him on his way to stardom."

Crook added that the film is known for its spectacular aerial scenes.

On July 7, "Grand Hotel," a 1932 movie about the glitter and bustle of life in an upper-crust hotel, will be shown. John and Loretta Barrymore, Greta Garbo and Joan Crawford appear together in the movie and "provide the kind of release audiences wanted in the hard times of the '30s," said Crook.

"People wanted to forget their worries, and movies like this classic helped do just that."

The third in the series is "Mrs. Miniver," scheduled for

Net income up at GSI

Net income of General Steel Industries for the three months, ended March 31, increased to $1,264,000, or 48 cents per share of common stock, compared with $1,147,000, or 43 cents per share, in the first quarter last year, it was announced at the annual meeting Thursday by W. Ashley Gray Jr., chairman and chief executive officer.

Net sales and other revenues in the first quarter this year were $14,940,000 compared with $14,320,000 in the same period last year.

James A. Van Sant, president and chief operating officer, noted that GSI's earnings improved in the first quarter this year, despite losses in production at plants in the Midwest and East during the severe winter weather of January and February.

GSI's net income statement for both years includes a tax credit representing partial realization of the company's tax loss carry-forwards. Earnings before the tax credit were $659,000, or 25 cents per share of common stock, for the first quarter of 1977 compared with $583,000, or 22 cents per share, in the first quarter of 1976.

The backlog of orders for the five manufacturing divisions stood at $17,956,000 on March 31, compared with $21,618,000 at the end of the first quarter of 1976. Indebtedness is currently $7,437,000, compared with $11,815,000 a year earlier.

Elliot H. Stein, St. Louis investment banker and president of Scherck, Stein & Frane, Inc., was elected a member of the board of directors of General Steel Industries at the meeting. Other members of the board were re-elected.

It was announced that the company completed distribution of common stock — a total of 125,968 shares — in value in the five per cent stock dividend which the board declared Jan. 26 to reflect GSI's improved earnings and strengthened financial position.

GSI formerly operated a major plant here. The annual meeting was held at division offices of the corporation at 8400 Midland Blvd., St. Louis. The diversified manufacturing company has 17 plants in the U.S. and Canada providing goods and services to producers of basic raw materials and a broad range of other industries.

Earnings increase

Post Corporation said Thursday it earned $454,312, or 51 cents a share, in the first quarter compared with $165,097, or 19 cents per share, a year ago.

The earnings were announced just before the annual stockholders' meeting. At a directors' meeting following the stockholders' meeting, a dividend of 20 cents a share was declared, payable June 30 to shareholders of record June 16.

The company said all its properties contributed to the earnings increase except its Milwaukee suburban papers where the loss was less than a year ago. Transcript Newspapers, the firm's operation in suburban Boston, showed its first quarterly profit since a daily paper was started there in 1973.

The company's newest properties — Sun Newspapers in suburban Cleveland and the Post Shopper in Lakeland, Fla. — contributed 47 cents per share to the quarterly earnings although they were owned during only one month of the quarter.

Post announced this month it plans to acquire Station WOKR-TV in Rochester, N.Y., for $15,825,000. However, consummation of this sale must await approval by the Federal Communications Commission and the stockholders were told that it will be late in the year before this will take place.

A spokesman said continued strong demand for both newspaper and broadcast advertising, plus improved competitive positions of several properties, were the principal reasons the first quarter profits were more than double last year's. The broadcasting and newspaper publishing has operations in eight states.

Salem leader of River Fest coupon sales here

Terry Salem of Granite City has been named volunteer Quad-City area chairman for coupon book sales for the Mississippi River Festival, held on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, according to Festival Director Lyle Ward.

Others assisting with the coupon book sales effort in this area will include James Jeffries, Marshall Schroeder, Mrs. James Dunn, Mrs. James Henderson, John Fornaszenki, Mrs. John Lee and Mrs. Alan Skirball.

"Our coupon sales are especially important to us this year," said Ward, "since our continuing effort to expand our family and fine arts entertainment means we are trying to reach families and others on a tight budget who can best take advantage of the benefits the coupon books offer."

Ward pointed out that the coupon books, which sell for $20 and contain coupons good for $25 worth of Festival tickets, offer a saving of 20 per cent over the regular ticket prices.

"And," he added, "coupon book holders are able to order tickets a month before the box office opens for regular ticket sales, which means coupon purchasers can get the best seating available for the performances they want to attend."

The coupon books also contain special discount coupons for picnics and catered dinners at the Festival site on a performance night.

"Our area coupon representatives are helping us continue to develop the image of the MRF as a good place for a family to enjoy an evening out," said Ward.

"The coupons help make it a relatively inexpensive outing for a family that wants to take in some excellent entertainment during the coming summer."

Coupon books may be ordered by contacting one of the Quad-City volunteers or Mrs. Sue Hepler, coupon book volunteer chairman at the MRF office, 692-2266.

The books also are available at various outlets throughout the St. Louis metropolitan area and Southern Illinois.

The list includes: American Heritage Bank of Granite City, Nameoki & Fehling Roads; Co-Op Tapes and Records, 3675-F Nameoki Road; Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, 1831 Delmar Ave.; Floral Original Flower Shop, 1419 Niedringhaus Ave.; Schermer's Market, Pontoon Road, Pontoon Beach; Captain's Clipper, 4925 Maryville Road; Graham's Book Store, Belleville Village Shopping Center, 3220 Nameoki Road; and Fornaszenki Music Store, 3009 Nameoki Road.

FAMILY ENTERTAINMENT under the stars is the theme of this year's Mississippi River Festival, scheduled June 22-Aug. 20 on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Looking at the schedule are Mrs. Sue Hepler, Edwardsville, volunteer chairman of the MRF coupon book sales campaign, and Russell

Solomon, of Granite City Steel, Illinois co-chairman of corporate sales for the coupon books. Available now for $20, each coupon book contains $25 worth of Festival tickets. Coupon book holders also are able to order tickets to the Festival a month before the box office opens.

Youth music workshops

Talented high school vocalists and musicians will gather on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale this summer for the 16th annual "music and youth" program. Sponsored by the SIUC School of Music and coordinated by associate music professor Melvin Slesner, the two-week session July 16-23 will offer workshops in music theory, jazz history, music appreciation and science, voice and conducting. Participation in major ensembles — band, chorus, orchestra, stage band and piano — also is planned.

Slesner said the camp is a "concentrated effort to further students' musical learning" as well as provide the experience of working with musicians from other areas.

A $150 fee for the summer workshop covers all instruction as well as room and board (except Sunday evening meals) in approved university housing. Commuters may attend the camp for $30. All participants will be supervised by adult counselors who are music instructors in area public schools. Students enrolled in the camp session also will be able to attend other music and cultural attractions at SIUC, including Summer Music Theater productions, faculty and student recitals and varied campus activities.

Quarterly tax due April 30

Employers must report and pay social security and withheld Federal income taxes for the first quarter of 1977 by April 30. Persons who have deposited the entire quarterly tax liability on time in a Federal Reserve Bank or authorized commercial bank, have until May 10 to file Form 941, "Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return," the Internal Revenue Service said.

Employers should use the preaddressed Forms 941 mailed to them by the IRS, or obtain copies of the form from the nearest IRS office. IRS Publication 15, "Circular E—Employer's Tax Guide," provides more information and is available free from local IRS offices.

BABY FOOD TAKEN

Carolee Sawyer, 2008 Washington Ave., reported at 2:55 a.m. Friday that someone entered her apartment and stole a television, a quantity of infant food and an assortment of children's, men's and women's clothing. 10,000 new jobs in state

An estimated 10,000 jobs will soon be available to unemployed Illinois residents as the result of a public service employment bill newly signed into law, the Illinois Department of Labor has announced.

The jobs have a guarantee of between six and 12 months' employment, and the employer may, but does not have to, retain the employee after that time.

James C. Hutchins, administrator of the department's Bureau of Employment Security, during the weekend urged unemployed persons to register with their local Illinois State Employment Service office for consideration under the program.

"Obviously, this program is designed to benefit low-income families," Hutchins said. "First preference will be given to those persons whose families are receiving money under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children Act, persons who have been receiving unemployment insurance for 15 or more weeks or have been unemployed for this same period of time, and veterans."

Hutchins said his agency is closely cooperating with the governor's Office of Manpower and personal safety. Mrs. Dunihan explained.

The new multimedia instructors are Melvin Hildebrand, Joe Williams, Marilyn Lumpkins and Mary Young, all of Granite City; Johnson of Alton; Conrad and Linda Dunihan of Collinsville; and James Hayes and Evelyn Holt, both of Madison.

Multimedia instructors

Nine new people have been added to the area registry of multimedia first aid instructors, Mrs. Maxine Dunihan, Red Cross first aid chairman, announced today. The group completed the eight-hour concentrated course here last week.

Those participating already held certificates in standard multimedia or standard first aid and personal safety. Mrs. Dunihan explained.

The new multimedia instructors are Melvin Hildebrand, Joe Williams, Marilyn Lumpkins and Mary Young, all of Granite City; Johnson of Alton; Conrad and Linda Dunihan of Collinsville; and James Hayes and Evelyn Holt, both of Madison.

Philathea Class studies Hebrews

Mrs. Mary Ahlvers gave a devotional lesson on faith using the first three verses of Hebrews, Chapter 11 and the story "The Cure" by Vivienne L. George as her topic at the April meeting of the Philathea Class of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

Opening prayer was offered by Mrs. Mildred Cundiff and Mrs. Ahlvers, president of the class, presided at the session. Plans were made to host a dinner meeting in May. Hostesses Miss Katherine Van Order, Miss Mabel Stewart and Mrs. Pearl Campbell served refreshments to 15 members and two guests, Mrs. Catherine Ward and Mrs. Dorothy Frohardt.

Mandated on Jan. 9, 1975, by President Gerald Ford in Executive Order 11832, the Illinois conference will be one of 56 held nationwide during 1977. Rep. Catania said, "The Illinois International Women's Year Conference will enable 1,500 Illinoisans to jointly endorse federal recommendations for the International Decade for Women and to discuss implementation of those recommendations in Illinois."

Goals of the Illinois conference are:

Funds to help abused children

More than $1 million for grants to help Illinois communities serve abused children and their families has been included in the fiscal 1977-78 appropriation request of the state Department of Children and Family Services, Acting Director Donald Schlosser has announced.

Schlosser said this will be the third year the department has awarded child abuse grants. Over $1,250,000 was awarded in the first two years. The $1,020,400 slated for 1977-78 represents a 32 per cent increase over current funding levels.

"Child abuse treatment programs operate most effectively when services are available from a broad range of community agencies," Schlosser said. "Early intervention and handling of abuse through the cooperative efforts of police, schools, hospitals, medical practitioners and social service agencies can avert additional family crises."

Schlosser said grants have enabled community agencies which had not worked with abused children before to develop a broad range of locally-based services.

These have included emergency care for abused children, counseling for their parents, crisis hotlines, clinical services, day care, homemaker services, emergency financial aid, and training in parenting skills. Several grants have been made to self-help groups such as Parents Anonymous. Community seminars and training sessions for staff who work with abused children and their parents also have been held.

Schlosser said the grant program will serve 4,000 children, a 10 per cent increase. Particular emphasis will be placed on developing services for children who have been sexually abused.

Grant proposals are being accepted at the department's central office in Chicago and at each of its 14 district area offices. These are located in Aurora, Champaign, Decatur, East St. Louis, Joliet, Marion, Moline, Ottawa, Peoria, Quincy, Rockford, Salem, Springfield and Waukegan. Agencies which can apply for grants include social service organizations, mental health centers, hospitals, police departments, homemaker associations, colleges and universities and self-help groups.

The department will try to limit individual grants to a maximum of $60,000 and award at least one grant in each area. Persons or agencies needing information about the grant program may contact the nearest DCF's area office.

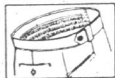

All proposals for the fiscal year should be submitted to the department by May 2. Each proposal will be reviewed by a special committee of department staff and other child welfare professionals. Grant awards will be announced in June.

Requests for free eyeglasses to be honored

Venice Township's federal revenue sharing program in which citizens of the township were provided free eyeglasses was terminated last week, but those who had applied will receive their glasses, Supervisor Christ Paschoff said today.

The supervisor said his office has received a large number of requests concerning the status of applications made prior to his announcement a week ago that the program would be discontinued. Paschoff said approximately $80,000 in revenue sharing funds was spent in providing free eyeglasses to township residents.

He said that all applications received by the township prior to the deadline date last week will be honored and glasses will be provided to those applicants.

GC man to testify at laetril hearing

Paul Lunsford of Granite City will be among residents of Illinois and others testifying at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the Rotunda Room of the State Capitol Building, Springfield, on House Bill 1200, which seeks to legalize the use of Vitamin B17, better known as laetril.

The medicine, a derivative of apricot seeds, has not yet been licensed by the Federal Food and Drug Administration and is unavailable in the United States.

Lunsford, a cancer patient since September 1974 when his condition was diagnosed as cancer of the bladder, began taking the vitamin in October of the same year, having obtained it in Mexico.

According to the Granite City man, two weeks ago being hospitalized after being diagnosed with a tumor on cancer malignancy was found in the tests at the present time.

Lunsford had been taking laetril without his physician's knowledge or consent, but he advised the doctor of his actions after the results came back from the pathologist.

Bill 1200 was admitted to the agenda of the Illinois legislature three weeks ago and Tuesday will mark the first hearing on the measure.

Rep. Don L. Totten of the Third Legislative District and Rep. Peter Peters of the 18th District are introducing the bill. There are 40 co-sponsors of the bill so far, Lunsford was advised Friday.

The pro-laetril advocates are hoping to have nearly 500 people present in the Rotunda Room of the Illinois Capitol Building when the hearing begins Tuesday before the Human Resource Committee, at 11 a.m. The public is invited to attend the hearing.

Thirty states presently are considering measures to legalize the use of laetril. The Indiana state legislature passed such a bill, which is awaiting the governor's signature, Lunsford said.

Venice diner robbed

Two young men, one of them armed with a shotgun, robbed a customer of $45 and took $36 from the cash register of Lynn's Diner, 1018 Broadway, Venice, at 3:45 a.m. today.

The two men reportedly fled west on Broadway in a dark blue Cadillac with a white top which was parked with the motor running directly outside the diner while the robbery took place.

The man with a shotgun was described as between 16 and 20 years of age, about five feet nine inches tall, weighing around 135 pounds and "very nervous."

The other was described as light colored with a small mustache and wearing a black cap and a tan leather jacket. Two waitresses and a customer were in the diner at the time.

According to a waitress, one of the men came into the diner earlier and got a bag of potato chips and coffee to take out. As the two backed out of the diner, keeping their three victims at gunpoint, one of the robbers reportedly issued a warning but it was not clear.

Police notified the toll booth at the McKinley bridge but the car had not crossed and a search of the Venice-Madison area was unsuccessful.

Urge caution in school paddling

State Superintendent of Education Joseph M. Cronin has expressed concern that last week's U.S. Supreme Court decision on corporal punishment could be misinterpreted. According to Dr. Cronin, Illinois regulations continue to provide for local decisions on corporal punishment.

He pointed out during the weekend that Chicago and several other school districts have banned all forms of physical punishment on students.

Dr. Cronin added that parents in other districts may not want their children paddled. This option is available because opinions vary so widely on the consequences.

Supt. Cronin cautioned that "school people should continue to pay attention to previous court decisions which call for explaining the reasons for punishment, providing for a witness, and using restraint and good sense."

He added that the courts have also stated that corporal punishment should be used only after other methods of discipline have failed. He asserted that the 5-4 split vote by the Supreme Court indicated that the matter is not completely closed.

National health insurance, Medicaid issues at meeting

A major battle concerning national health insurance is expected during the Illinois State Medical Society house of delegates' annual meeting, in progress through Wednesday at the Holiday Inn Mart Plaza in Chicago.

The house is the policy-making body for the 13,000-member Medical Society, whose new president will be Dr. George T. Wilkins Jr. of Granite City.

The stage was set when the American Medical Association introduced a national health insurance proposal after the ISMS house took a stand on posing "all governmentally-mandated" national health insurance plans.

Several resolutions submitted for house action urge vigorous ISMS opposition to the AMA plan. More than 100 resolutions are slated for discussion during the Illinois meeting. Approximately half focus on the Illinois Department of Public Aid's administration of the Medicaid program.

Several proposals call for the ISMS to initiate legal action against the department, while others urge the society to repeal its position of encouraging physician participation in the program.

Other key resolutions call upon the ISMS to:

1. Support decriminalization of possession of reasonably small amounts of marijuana for personal use.

2. Reaffirm opposition to drug substitution by pharmacists, but outline acceptable requirements should passage of a law allowing substitution of generic drugs become imminent.

Among other highlights of the meeting are addresses by Illinois Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon (D, Belleville) and U.S. Representative Edward R. Madigan (R, Ill. 21st).

Cong. Madigan addressed a luncheon meeting of the Illinois Medical Political Action Committee today and Dixon will be the keynote speaker at a 7:30 a.m. Tuesday public affairs breakfast.

Special presentations totaling nearly $145,000 will be made to the state's medical schools. The funds represent the society's contribution to the AMA Education and Research Foundation, which distributes funds to medical schools throughout the nation. Each ISMS member contributes $10 of his dues to the foundation.

The meeting also will feature induction of 81 physicians into the ISMS 50 Year Club. The club is comprised of physicians who have been engaged in medical practice for at least 50 years.

The Auxiliary is holding its annual meeting in conjunction with the ISMS session. Highlights of the auxiliary convention will include a program Wednesday on television violence.

Scouts planning energy project

In response to a challenge by President Jimmy Carter, the Boy Scouts of America will launch a major energy conservation project among its membership and in neighborhoods across the country.

The challenge to double its efforts in conservation was given to the youth organization last February when the Report to the President was presented to the former Plains, Ga., scoutmaster at the White House, according to Ben Miller, district chairman of the Uniwah District of the Cahokia Mound Council.

For several years, the Cahokia Mound Council has had an ongoing conservation program. Project SOAR (Save Our American Resources), with the emphasis on energy conservation and recycling, Miller noted.

"The new effort," will be a continuing project with a focus on Saturday, Oct. 8, which has been designated as Energy Inventory Day. The activity on that day will emphasize home energy audits and home energy-use efficiency with separate plans for Cub Scouts, Scouts, and Explorers," Miller said.

"With nearly five million members across the nation, we can have a major impact on energy conservation education and action," Miller explained.

"We can get the word to our members and the public that we need energy, but we cannot sacrifice a livable world tomorrow for short-term needs today."

The Cahokia Mound Council serves 111 Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout Troops and Explorer posts in the southern part of Madison County and in Bond County.

Offer retroactive food stamp benefits

Quad-Cityans may be eligible for retroactive food stamp benefits if you under one of its programs," a spokesman said.

The programs include but are not limited to:

1. Section 221 (d) (3), Rent Supplement Program.

2. Section 235, Mortgage Assistance Payments Program. Revised Section 23, Leased Housing Program.

4. Section 8, Housing Assistance Payments Program.

"If you think you may be eligible for these benefits, contact the Department of Public Aid office serving your area," the spokesman said.

North, South highs plan blood drives

Students of Granite City High Schools North and South again are cooperating with the American Red Cross in drives to secure blood donations.

The North drive will be held on Thursday from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. in the gymnasium.

The South drive will be held Friday from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. in the gymnasium.

Donors must be at least 17 years of age to be eligible.

Last year, North had 134 blood donors and South had 115, according to a Red Cross spokesman.

The blood drive is being sponsored by the Student Councils of the two schools. Jeff Robinson is chairman of the drive at South and Cathy Messina and Tom Richards are co-chairmen at North.

The public is invited to participate and may contact a student council member at either school for information.

Pre-school registration at park opens Wednesday

The Granite City Park District will hold pre-school registration, beginning at 9 a.m. Wednesday at the Wilson Park office, for children wishing to attend the seven-week summer session which starts June 13.

A kindergarten class also will be offered during the summer for youngsters who are attending kindergarten this school year. Registration for kindergarten will take place at the same time and place as pre-school.

Parents interested in enrolling their children in either class must do so in person. Harold Brown, park district superintendent, announced.

A child's birth certificate and a current utility bill, showing residency in the park district, must be shown upon registering a child.

A youngster also must be 4 years old by June 1 to qualify for pre-school classes.

Each class will be limited to 35 children and those registered will be placed on a first-come, first-serve basis, Brown advised.

Pre-school classes will be held at the Nameoki Recreation Center, with morning sessions from 9:30 to 11:30, and afternoon classes from 1 to 3 p.m. Sessions for the pre-schoolers also will be organized in the fall months, with registration to be scheduled some time in August, Brown said.

Bill would prevent cuts in veterans' benefits

Cong. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) is the co-sponsor of a bill to insure that persons who receive veterans benefits do not have those benefits reduced whenever they receive an increase in their social security payments.

The bill, entitled the Veterans' Benefits Pass-Through Bill, was introduced by Cong. Harold Ford of Tennessee, with Cong. Price as one of the principal co-sponsors.

"This bill would correct the inequity that results when a person drawing both veterans' pension benefits and social security receives an increase in his social security," said Price.

"The annual cost-of-living increase in social security was designed to help recipients cope with inflation, but so many people who rely on these two forms of relief as their sole source of income are not protected because when one benefit is increased, the other is correspondingly reduced."

The bill has 164 co-sponsors in the House, and is currently before the House Committee on Veterans' Affairs.

"I think this is a very important bill that will be helpful in insuring that our veterans and their families in the 23rd District receive the benefits they deserve," Price said.

The bill has support from both Republicans and Democrats in the House, and has the backing of several veterans' groups, including the VFW, the American Legion and the AMVETS.

JIMMY'S PEANUT BUTTER? Rotarian Alex Markuly receives a prize last week at the Madison-Venice Rotary Club, a jar of peanut butter on which the label indicated it was from Plains, Ga. However, the case containing the jar was marked: "bulk pack, 12 12-oz. jars, individual, to be labeled in Plains, Ga., Cinderella Foods, Dawson, Ga. 31742." W. F. "Mick" Strange, president of the M-V Rotary Club makes the presentation.

'Educard' recommended

President Kenneth A. Shaw of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is calling for a new declaration in the nation's third century: "a declaration of interdependence where we all work together and acknowledge that we will be the better for it."

Addressing the spring conference of the SIU Annuitants Association Thursday afternoon in the University Center, Pres. Shaw said the nation can look forward to spectacular changes in the next few years, particularly in education.

He said the changes will be necessary because the world is quickly running out of work. "Permanent unemployment will soar higher if we don't readjust thinking about schooling, work retirement and income redistribution," the president said. "In the future, all people of all ages will be seen as students."

Dr. Shaw related that one idea soon to be proposed is an "educard" for mature and retired persons.

With an "educard," similar to a credit card, the person could be admitted to any classroom in the state, taking what he or she wanted, while giving the benefit of the person's experience to the class.

"To develop such a program would have to be a continuing means of communication between younger students and those who have lived in the real world of life and work," Dr. Shaw said. "We all would gain, and not just personally and socially."

Explaining further, the president said, "This 'educard' should be regarded as symbolic of your fulfillment of all your duties of citizenship and your productivity as a member of society."

"If it looks like a credit card, it means that you are being given a high kind of credit for your contribution."

"It says further that the community knows of its need for your continued involvement, and your willingness to share your experience and wisdom."

Pres. Shaw said the nation pays a heavy price for what he described as "gerontophobia" — the dehumanizing and patronizing status which elderly Americans are subjected to in being regarded publicly as a "social problem."

He charged that this condition is shown in some areas by public uneasiness with state and federal retirement programs, inadequate housing and services for the elderly, and attempts to treat the elderly as less than human.

"We are the biggest losers as we deny ourselves a precious resource — experience," Dr. Shaw said.

Specifically addressing the university's retirees, the president praised them for having "a great deal to do with creating a strong foundation on which we can build for the future. You were the true pioneers when this splendid campus was rolling hills and farmlands."

"Today, the university is the pulsing heart of a region that is aware of itself in a new way: the area has sent notice to both sides of the river, as well as to the state, that we intend to be recognized for our own dignity and integrity."

"We do not intend to be a stepchild any longer. We have entered a period of economic and cultural maturity from which we can speak with confidence and true recognition of our long-delayed hopes and needs."

He said the university's "problem identification program" is a continuing process of self-examination and ordering of priorities which he hopes will help achieve his objective of making SIU "the best of its kind anywhere."

He said it is providing "a much deeper insight of the fact that all problems are interrelated."

The president said there is no

GC Town Board authorizes 1977 tax collection

Local collection of taxes by the Granite City town collector will be made again this year under a resolution adopted last week by the City Council convened as the Town Board.

Cost of the collection will be borne by the township as a result of constitutional provisions that no longer permit town collectors to retain fees in return for collection services.

Although responsibility for collections now lies with the county treasurer, Granite City and some other townships in the county conduct their own collections at their own expense to expedite the distribution of funds after they are collected. The resolution adopted by the Town Board authorized Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer to budget funds for the collection work and authorized the city treasurer to notify County Treasurer George Musso to turn over the tax books to Granite City for local collection purposes.

The resolution also designated the First Granite City National Bank as the depository for tax funds. In other actions during the Town Board session, the aldermen approved a resolution authorizing township officials to issue $63,000 in anticipation warrants for the town fund, a like amount for the general assistance fund and $8,150 in warrants for the municipal retirement fund.

The board also named Granite City Attorney William Schooley as township attorney for another year, to serve at a salary of $400 per month, and authorized the township to retain Oliver Schneider as accountant for the town fund at an annual fee of $3,500.

West impresses in girls' track, field invitational here

Belleville West girls won seven times and placed well in all but one of 16 events enroute to earning 86 1/2 points to capture their third straight GCHS South invitational track and field meet Saturday in the Granite City Stadium.

The fourth annual event saw 11 previous records shattered and one former mark tied. Placing in order behind the winning team were East St. Louis with 40 points, Belleville East 34, Cahokia 25, Alton 17 1/2, O'Fallon 17, Collinsville 13, Edwardsville 11, Red Bud seven, Waterloo High three and GCHS North, two. Failing to score were host South, Madison, Triad and Wood River.

West girls, headed by Angie See, snapped four previous marks.

Angie See ran the two-mile event in a record time of 11:33.3 and then turned in a new mark performance in winning the mile run in 5:29.8.

Liz Crotty set a new high jump mark for West (5-2) and the mile relay squad of Kay Greiman, Sue Iselhardt, Diane Ontko and Tamm Wolz finished first (4:17.7), a new record time.

Placing first also for the Maroons were Mary Frerher 880 run, Mary Ford discus, and Jill Kuenne shot put.

East St. Louis girls set new marks in 440-yard relay (51.6 seconds), 80 hurdles (11.0), and 110 low hurdles (15.0). The Flyers also matched last year's long jump mark (16-4).

Other records were set by Cahokia in 800 medley (1:53.8), and 440 run (1:01.8); and Belleville East in 100 dash (11.5).

Cold and damp weather conditions appeared to hamper efforts of the three local schools entered at both Madison and South High failed to qualify for any of the meet's 16 event finals.

GCHS North advanced two girls into final competition. Tina Taylor placed fifth in shot put (33-7) and Margie Verschyl was fifth in 80-yard low hurdles (12.9 seconds).

Trojans 4th in 13-school track tourney

Defending Red Bud track and field invitational meet titlist Madison High School failed to repeat in a 13-school field Saturday, placing fourth. DuQuoin High gained 64 points in winning.

Placing in order behind the victors were Nashville with 31 points, Freeburg 29, MHS 27, Chester 25, Red Bud and Belleville Althoff each with 22. St. Paul of Highland 17, Trenton Westline and Columbia each with 14, Dupu and Marissa each with eight and Waterloo High, five.

With the weather Saturday being cold and damp, Trojan mentor Charles Steptoe commented, "We have never performed well in that type of weather condition."

"But, by the same token, it was cold and damp for DuQuoin, too."

For the first time since the 1977 season opened last month, Madison failed to win an event.

Madison scores included: two-mile relay—Jerry Brooks, Kevin Rogers, Cecil Cross, Earnest Davenport 3rd; 440 relay—James Heard, Marcus White, Sylvester Collins, Duane Buchanan 2nd; 100 dash—White 4th, Heard 5th; 330 low hurdles—Ron Morris 3rd.

Mile relay—Buchanan Daryl Hamilton, Mike Bartley, Davenport 2nd; 220 dash—White 3rd; long jump—Collins 2nd; triple jump—Alfred Crawford 5th; and high jump—Collins 4th.

Helfrich captures spring spectacular

Former Tri-City Speedway sportsman stock car champion Mike Wallace, 18, of St. Louis piloted his late model division race car to a third-place finish Saturday night behind Indiana's Tom Helfrich in a 60-lap "spring spectacular" on the half-mile dirt oval here.

Mike Wallace, who made his "rookie" debut in the late model division opening night April 16, followed runnerup Joe Wallace of Kansas (no relation) across the finish line.

Jim O'Connor of Chicago who captured the season opening race program at Tri-City, was fourth and Tony Issa of Chicago placed fifth.

Victors in three 25-lap qualifying races were Fred Zook of Wisconsin, Russ Wallace of St. Louis (Mike's father) and Helfrich.

A consolation event was won by Ken Essary of Galeno, Mo.

County meet here

The annual two-division Madison County track meet, sponsored by Harold E. Briggs, regional superintendent of schools and hosted by GCHS South, will begin with preliminary trials at four o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Granite City Stadium.

Red Division (more than 750 enrollment) schools vying for this year's title are Edwardsville, Collinsville, Granite City North and South and two-time champion Alton.

Seven schools will compete for Green Division honors — Roxana, Triad (Troy-Marine-St. Jacob), Highland, Bethalto, St. Paul of Highland, Madison and Wood River.

Highland High took top Green Division honors last year while 1975 winner Roxana placed seventh and MHS was edged out of second place (48-47) by Wood River.

Following Alton in the large school meet last year were Edwardsville, GC North, GC South and Collinsville.

Alton has won the Red Division portion of the meet every year since 1946 except in 1974, when the Warriors of South captured first place.

Only one new record was set last year. South High's two-mile relay team of Frank Holmes, Don Meagher, Mike Cobern and Joe Ward finished in 8:24.3, snapping a previous mark of 8:29.9 set by South in 1975.

Roger Smith, South's athletic coordinator, is the meet manager.

Admission is $1 for students and $2 for adults.

300 colleges at area event Sunday

Over 300 colleges are sending admissions representatives to an all-metro college day to be held Sunday, May 1, at Parkway West High School, 76 Clayton Road, Ballwin.

The program, under the auspices of cooperating school districts of the suburban St. Louis area, is for all high school students and their parents who live in the metropolitan area of St. Louis on either side of the Mississippi River.

Between 1 and 5 p.m., college representatives will be in individual rooms to conduct sessions beginning at the hour and half hour.

Parkway West is located on the north side of Clayton Road, approximately one mile west of Woods Mill Road.

Adequate parking will be available at the Western Electric lot, corner of Woods Mill and Clayton Roads. Shuttle bus service will be available from the parking lot to the high school.

Students and parents will find a representation of various types of institutions. Financial aid information services will be available.

Information about several professional areas will be included; the areas are architecture, dentistry, engineering, law, medicine and veterinary medicine.

Representatives of the American College Testing Program and the College Entrance Examination Board will be present to answer questions.

Pointers on choosing a college are listed in a brochure now available through high school counseling offices.

The brochure also lists the more than 300 colleges to be represented, giving location, area population, type of control of the college, tuition, budget needs, undergraduate enrollment, recommended high school rank, accepted rank, pre-enrollment test requirements, percentage of freshmen who graduate, percentage of graduates who enter advanced programs, percentage of students who have financial aid, average financial aid, major areas of study and new or special programs.

"The college day would be a very valuable experience for students—particularly high school juniors, or sophomores, and their parents," Selma Nelson, coordinator of pupil personnel services at Granite City High School South, comments.

Cooking contestant wins $10,000 prize

Mrs. Roberta Badgley, a former Granite City resident, now residing in Phoenix, Ariz., won a $10,000 prize for her entry in the broad division of the National Pineapple Cooking Classic held in Honolulu.

A retired bookkeeper, Mrs. Badgley won the prize for her Trade Wind Muffin recipe. The prize winning recipe prepared by Mrs. Badgley is as follows: 1 can (20 oz.) crushed pineapple; 1/2 cup sliced almonds; 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour; 1 teaspoon soda; 1 teaspoon salt; 1 (3 ounce) package cream cheese, softened; 1 cup sugar; 2 teaspoons vanilla; 1 large egg, beaten; 1/2 cup dairy sour cream—glaze. Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Heavily grease muffin pans (2 1/2 inches diameter, 1 1/2 inches deep) and sprinkle with almonds. Resift flour with soda and salt. Beat cheese, sugar and vanilla together until smooth. Blend in egg. Add flour mixture alternately with sour cream. Fold in drained pineapple. Spoon into prepared muffin pans. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 15 minutes until muffins are browned and test done.

Remove from oven and let stand in pans 5 to 10 minutes. Turn out onto wire rack and spread glaze over warm muffins. Makes 16 to 18 muffins. Glaze: Combine 1 tablespoon soft margarine, 1 cup sifted powdered sugar and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Stir from pineapple. Blend smooth.

The top prize $25,000 was won by Mrs. Ethel F. Kilebert, a clerk in a Vacherie, La., variety store. She used a family recipe for meringue cake filled with pineapple cream to take the top honors.

Sponsors for the contest are the Pineapple Growers Association of Hawaii.

Reversal

Eight trustees who will be seated tonight are the two re-elected incumbents, Norman Hessler who received 1,578 votes, and W. Lee Adams with 1,527 votes, in the initial tally. Whittell, who says his tally shows he was re-elected, said he plans to seek a court injunction today to prevent the new township officials from being seated tonight, but doubts there is enough time.
Had the review of the ballots been conducted the previous weekend, as originally scheduled, there is no doubt it could have kept the new board from being seated tonight, but I doubt there is time today," Whittell said.
He noted he will turn the keys and township records over to the new supervisors, Harold Davis, at 6 p.m. today, but noted, "I have warned him not to spend any of the money since I do not believe he has been elected supervisor. He does not agree with me."

Whittell would not discuss what he felt was his winning margin, but said, "I am going to be the supervisor. I have a strong feeling."
He did note that in Precinct Eight, he feels he gained 21 votes over Davis, based upon his observations of the ballots this weekend.

Whittell contended the 113 votes announced for Davis was inaccurate in Precinct Eight, since the ballots only showed 94 votes for Davis there. He also said the 57 announced for him should be raised to 60, according to his observation of the ballots.

Whittell said the review also showed enough changes in other precincts to offset the 35 vote victory margin Davis had in the original tally.
Re-elected Town Clerk Douglas Teator disagrees with Whittell, saying the defeated supervisor may have picked up 15 or 20 votes in the review, but not enough to offset the 35 vote margin Davis achieved in his victory.

Teator, who said he kept no tally, noted many of the ballots will require "judgment calls" and it is difficult to say which ones will be counted and which will not.

It appears Jerry Adams may have lost to Besserman and Mrs. Hawkins, but no other changes are anticipated, according to Teator's recollection.
Teator said the discovery process was "lengthy and exhausting," starting at 8 a.m. Saturday and continuing through about 11 p.m., then resuming at 8 a.m. Sunday and ending about 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

He said there appeared to be about 50 or more ballots which were "questionable" and may determine the outcome of the election. Some were not initiated by the election judges, some voting marks were irregular and some may have been counted for the wrong candidates, he said.
Teator agreed there appears to be irregularities in Precinct

Eight which may have "tightened up" the supervisor race.
He emphasized the review process does not change the outcome of the election, but might provide evidence to be used by challengers in filing a court suit contesting the election results.

Whittell and Mrs. Hawkins announced this morning that they will file such suits, and other candidates are expected to make similar announcements today or at tonight's meeting.
The candidates have 30 days after the review in which to file motions contesting the election outcome.

According to Whittell's tally, Teator won as town clerk, Frank Melchic was elected highway commissioner, Richard Peck was retained as assessor, and W. Lee Adams and Norman Hessler all were elected, which agrees with the original outcome.

However, Whittell contends he was supervisor, Loren Madison won as tax assessor over incumbent Carl Maclos, and Besserman and Mrs. Hawkins are the third and fourth trustees, instead of Jerry Adams.
Joe Boyer, who was expected to be in contention for a trustee spot due to alleged irregularities in the State Park Place count, failed to gain as many votes as anticipated and fell short of being elected, according to the unofficial tallies of the review.

Davis, contacted late this morning at his home, agreed the outcome of any court suit may be to give Besserman and Mrs. Hawkins trustee spots at Jerry Adams' expense, but said he did not see enough difference to give Whittell the victory.

He also agreed there seemed to be irregularities in Precinct Eight which may have given Whittell 15 to 20 more votes, but said questionable ballots in the other precincts may give him an even larger victory margin than announced election night.

Davis contended Whittell refused to turn over the township to him this morning and he is contacting his attorney to determine if anything can be done.

Davis and a new office staff reported to the township office early this morning and left after Whittell said the attorneys for both sides had agreed to a transition at 6 p.m. today.

Davis also said a court order keeping the new officials from being seated would "reflect very sour on our judicial system."

Mrs. Hawkins also issued a statement this morning saying she thought it was an injustice that after campaigning two months asking people to elect her, she had to sit for two days studying ballots to prove they had elected her.

Four hurt in 3-car crash

Four persons were injured in a three-car accident at 4055 Pontoon Road in Pontoon Beach at 3:35 p.m. Saturday when an auto operated by Randy DeRousse, 15, of 2716 Johnson Road, struck the rear of an auto operated by Miss Diana Paschedag, 17, of 4537 Walter Ave.
The Paschedag auto was then shoved into the rear of another auto, operated by Robert Wilkinson of 206 Wilson Park Lane.
Pontoon Beach authorities reported that the three autos were all eastbound on Pontoon Road with the Wilkinson and Paschedag autos stopped in a line of traffic waiting to turn into a parking lot.
DeRousse was ticketed on charges of failing to reduce speed to avoid an accident, and for allegedly operating a vehicle without a drivers license.

A passenger in the DeRousse auto, 17-year-old Beyer, 14, of Granite City, reportedly suffered no injuries but declined medical treatment.

Natalie Wilkinson, 26, of the Wilson Park Lane address, also declined treatment for apparent injuries.

Miss Paschedag and a passenger in her auto, Mrs. Tammy Whitte, 18, of 3801 Lake Drive, were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital and released following treatment. Miss Paschedag complained of having a stiff neck, and Mrs. Whitte complained of pain to her head and back.

The parked vehicle belonged to Michael Bettorf, 1530 Johnson Road.

Mrs. Hatfield was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for a laceration to the lower lip and pain to her chin and mouth area. She had x-rays taken and was released after treatment.

Timothy Glitch Hatfield, 4, of Fourth Street address, bumped her nose in the mishap. She also had x-rays taken and was released after treatment.

Dedicate Army Reserve center

Dedication of a new $3.9 million Army Reserve training center took place Sunday afternoon. Activities included a band concert, static displays of military equipment and refreshments.

The new center at 4301 Goodfellow Blvd. is named after the late Major General Leif J. Sverdrup, a former director of Granite City Steel.

The afternoon included an open house, military band music provided by the 399th Army Band from Ft. Leonard Wood, a giant inflatable medical tent which includes an operating room, a track-mounted 15mm artillery piece, an Army fire truck, a helicopter and a field bakery unit.

The new training center houses the headquarters of the 102nd U.S. Army Reserve Command, which has 58 units in Missouri and Southern Illinois, and several of its subordinate units.

Elements of the 85th Infantry Division (Training), the 416th Engineer Command and the 12th Special Forces also are located there.

It is built on the site of the old St. Louis Small Arms Plant.

The buildings provide 93,000 square feet of space for classrooms, offices, training areas and extensive equipment repair shops, located on a 15-acre tract.

Gen. Sverdrup served on the staff of General Douglas MacArthur during World War II. After the war, he organized and commanded the 102nd Infantry Division (Army Reserve), predecessor of the current Army Reserve Command. He also was founder of the Sverdrup Corporation in St. Louis.

The general was present at the groundbreaking for the new center in September 1975 but died in January 1976.

Fraternity aiding Fest

Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity on the campus of Southern Illinois University Edwardsville is "raising the roof" for the Mississippi River Festival.

"Help Raise the Roof at MRF" is the slogan the fraternity is using as part of a campaign for contributions to support the 1977 Festival, held each summer on the campus of SIUE.

"We aim our efforts at the students on campus," said Pat Jones, chairman of the campaign and vice-president of TKE fraternity. "So far, we have counted $300 in contributions."

The campaign is part of the group's "two-fold duty" to the MRF. "First," said Jones, "we are in charge of the student aspect of the MRF. The second responsibility is to help the MRF deliver coupons bought by people in the area."

The TKEs volunteered their services to the MRF as their yearly community service project.

As part of their campaign, the TKEs state, "In nine years, the Festival has brought to SIUE $4 million worth of programming, which includes 181 performances of jazz, rock, blues, folk and ragtime entertainers."

Also, "Last year alone, MRF employed 198 SIUE students and paid out a student wage total of $105,000."

The TKEs have designated contributors as: those who give 25 cents, "grass growers"; 50 cents, "earth movers"; $1, "big backers"; $5, "roof raisers"; and $10, "student friend of MRF."

Student contributors to the MRF student fund-raising campaign will have their names listed in a "special edition" of the Festival program book.

The TKEs are also trying to improve the image of the MRF as a place for family entertainment.

Park District vote is unchanged by canvass

The official canvass of votes cast in the April 19 Granite City Park district election failed to cause any change in the tally as reported unofficially at that time. The vote canvass was held during a special meeting of the Park Board Friday at 5 p.m.

The canvass confirmed the election of John "Jeff" Worthen, a 23-year-old bricklayer as a member of the board. The canvass showed he received 686 votes, while Barry Loman received 641 and Henry Gabriel 521, electing Worthen and Loman to the two posts open to election.

A total of 1,245 ballots was cast in the election. At the Lincoln Park Community Center, where 150 votes were cast, Worthen received 89 votes, Loman 75 and Gabriel 29. At the ice rink, Worthen led with 288 votes, Loman had 220 and Gabriel, 139. There were 435 ballots cast at the ice rink. In the largest precinct turnout, the Namecki Recreation Center, where 660 votes were cast, Worthen received 341, Loman 336 and Gabriel led that precinct with 353.

Mr. Schannott operated his business for 24 years prior to his retirement.

He was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church. Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Mary Schannott; one son, Herbert R. Schannott Jr., of Granite City; a brother, George Schannott, and a sister, Mrs. Annie Mueller, both of Belleville; three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Funeral services were held Saturday. Details are given in the obituary column.

MONEY STOLEN
A white envelope marked "bills," containing $236 in $20 and $10 bills was stolen from an end table in the living room of Doris Shea, 2228 Lee Ave., between April 16 and Thursday. She informed police at 3 p.m. Friday.

Stereo gone from mini-mobile home

Among a series of auto burglaries occurring late Thursday night or early Friday morning was one at the home of John Simpson, 2135 State St., reported at 7 a.m. Friday.

Entry into the locked mini-mobile home was gained and an in-dash eight track AM-FM stereo, valued at $130, was stolen. The glove compartment was ransacked and a speaker was removed, but left hanging by wires.

Police seek owner of lost $100 bill

Granite City Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer is asking the person who lost a $100 bill in the vicinity of Victory Drive and Namecki Road to come to police headquarters in the City Hall building and talk with him or Police Captain Francis J. McManus of the department's Service Division.

The $100 bill, which is identifiable, was found Thursday in three youngsters. The children took the bill home to their mother who notified police, Chief Veizer said.

CYCLIST INJURED
Edward Hancock, 28, of 2820 Dogwood Drive, was treated and released at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 12:55 a.m. Friday, after he reportedly sustained cuts to the right cheek in a motorcycle accident.

Boys face burglary charge

Criminal complaints charging burglary were to be prepared today by Granite City police detectives against two boys, ages 13 and 17, who allegedly were involved in a burglary at Barney's Brake and Wheel Alignment shop at 2311 Madison Ave. in St. Louis.

A burglar alarm took police to the shop at 11:30 p.m. Thursday. The 17-year-old boy, who was the front and back sides appeared to be secure.

At the rear of the building he noticed a bicycle hidden between a trash dumpster and the building and a broken window above the bicycle.

Apperson looked in a window and noticed a north side window was open, which had been closed during his inspection seconds earlier.

He said a 13-year-old boy approached him, breathing heavily, exchanged small talk and said his bicycle had been placed in the back of the shop and requested a juvenile officer come to the scene to question him.

Apperson and other officers then checked inside the building and found tennis shoes lying leading from the window to the office and back to the entry window, then to the north side.

A stereo had been moved from the office to near the rear window and several drawers in the office appeared to have been searched. The shoes worn by the boy did not match the footprints in the building.

Questioning of the boy and his relatives led to police searching for a 17-year-old in connection with the burglary.

When the 17-year-old was found, his boots did not match the footprints in the building, but he had a cut to his left arm below the shoulder which the younger boy alleged had been sustained while breaking the window.

The younger boy told police where the elder had hidden the tennis shoes worn by the 17-year-old and police recovered the shoes from a bedroom closet at the older boy's home.

The 17-year-old was taken into custody and the younger was released to his parents' custody, pending questioning by juvenile authorities.

The 13-year-old's bicycle also was seized as evidence. At 8:20 p.m. Sunday, Joe Apperson, a Cardinal Ave., waived at a passing police car and said a juvenile officer come to the scene to question him.

Apperson and other officers then checked inside the building and found tennis shoes lying leading from the window to the office and back to the entry window, then to the north side.

GC man beaten in Madison lot

As Donald Coggins, 2915 Cayuga St., and his wife, Juanita, were walking to their car in a rear parking lot at Jim's Lounge, 1334 Madison Ave., Madison, at 3 a.m. Saturday, four youths and an older man began attacking Coggins by beating and kicking him, police reported.

The man allegedly held a .38 caliber weapon during the beating on a Bonne Terre, Mo., couple who was with the Coggins.

While police officers were talking to the victim and witnesses, a vehicle passed by the scene and an occupant was recognized as being among the attackers.

Police halted the car at 15th Street and Madison Avenue and talked to the driver, a 20-year-old Granite City man. Two other men had alighted from the auto earlier, the driver said.

One man was apprehended hiding behind a car and a tow truck at 14th and Iowa streets. Granite City police picked up a third man on Washington Avenue, between 15th and 16th streets, about 20 minutes later.

The latter two were booked for investigation at Madison police station, but released pending further action.

Coggins, 30, was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital with a fracture to the face, bruises to the forehead, face and right shoulder and cuts to the lip. He had x-rays taken and underwent surgery before being admitted.

1175 LAWN MOWER TAKEN
Everett D. White, who is in the process of moving from the 2500 block of Propes Street to Edwardsville Road and struck a westbound auto, operated by Douglas Van Damme of Cahokia.

The woman's car turned over on its top and Miss Wild, who remained conscious, was removed from the wreckage by rescue squad members from the Madison Volunteer Fire Department and the Granite City Rescue Unit.

She sustained bruises and lacerations to both legs, but apparently escaped serious injury.

Miss Wild was admitted for observation at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where her condition today is considered satisfactory.

Van Damme was not reported injured.

BURGLAR DAMAGES RADIO
A thief broke into the auto of Dr. Alice Purdie, 1610 Fourth St., Madison, damaged the radio, trying to remove the equipment, and ransacked the glove box, the owner reported at 7:55 a.m. Saturday.

Fire destroys truck; nearby auto damaged

The possibility of arson is being studied as the cause of a fire which caused $400 damage to a parked panel truck and $400 to a car parked beside the truck Sunday night.

At Justice, 30 Briarcliff Drive, said he left a building at Edwards Street and Namecki Road at 10:20 p.m. Sunday and noticed a fire under the driver's bucket seat of his truck.

The fire department was summoned, but by the time firemen arrived, the fire had spread through shag carpeting in the truck and the vehicle was completely filled with flames.

Firefighting efforts were directed toward the car of Alfonso Munoz Jr., 2813 Birch St., parked next to the truck, but the car also sustained about $400 damage from the flames.

It was noted that Justice's truck, valued at about $400, was destroyed.

Man, 23, charged

Scott Voss, 2425 Adams St., reported at 9:15 p.m. Saturday that while waiting in the food line at Jack-in-the-Box Restaurant on Namecki Road, he called to someone he knew who walked over to Voss' car and shattered the windshield with his fist.

A short time later, police arrested David E. Elston, 23, of 2106 E. 24th St., outside Brunswick Tri-Mor Bowl. He was taken to police headquarters and charged with criminal damage to property.

Mrs. Castleman dies at home

Mrs. Gertrude H. Castleman, 74, of 2208 Washington Ave. was found without signs of life at 9:05 p.m. Friday by Mrs. Betty Roberts, also of 2208 Washington Ave. and Mrs. Barbara Hahn, 2206 Washington Ave.

She was pronounced dead at the scene by Madison County Deputy Coroner Randy Irwin at 3:15 p.m.

Mrs. Roberts said she had not seen Mrs. Castleman for two or three days, but Mrs. Hahn reported she had spoken to her about 10:30 a.m. Thursday.

Police said Mrs. Castleman was lying in her back on the apartment floor when found and it appeared she may have fallen backward. An abrasion on the left elbow could have been caused by the fall, officers said.

A four-legged walker was standing near Mrs. Castleman's body. She had been in ill-health for some time, it was believed. Born in Arkansas, Mrs. Castleman had resided in Granite City for 50 years.

She was employed for 20 years as a seamstress at the Gale-Sobel Dress Factory in St. Louis, prior to her retirement. Her husband, Ben Castleman, died in 1969.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Irwin (Martha) Anderson of Granite City, and Mrs. Charles (Onie) Stevenson of Houston, Tex.; two sons, Ben Castleman of Rapid City, S.D., and Melvin Castleman of Sorento, Ill.; 10 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Cougars win 2 of 3

Hampered by rain Saturday, the SUE Cougars played a tripleheader at Charleston Sunday, losing 4-6 to Eastern and then winning 10-4 and 15-7.

Stan Osterberg of Granite City in revenge for being dropped from the Eastern team in the past by winning the 10-4 contest. And Steve Ashby of Granite City pitched three innings of relief to preserve the 15-7 victory.

Now 16-10 for the season and ranked sixth nationally in Division II of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, SIUE will prepare for round-robin competition Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Friday pairings are University of Missouri-St. Louis vs. Austin Peay at 12:30 and SIUE vs. St. Joseph's of Indiana at 3:30.

Mrs. Castleman dies at home
Mrs. Gertrude H. Castleman, 74, of 2208 Washington Ave. was found without signs of life at 9:05 p.m. Friday by Mrs. Betty Roberts, also of 2208 Washington Ave. and Mrs. Barbara Hahn, 2206 Washington Ave.

She was pronounced dead at the scene by Madison County Deputy Coroner Randy Irwin at 3:15 p.m.

Mrs. Roberts said she had not seen Mrs. Castleman for two or three days, but Mrs. Hahn reported she had spoken to her about 10:30 a.m. Thursday.

Police said Mrs. Castleman was lying in her back on the apartment floor when found and it appeared she may have fallen backward. An abrasion on the left elbow could have been caused by the fall, officers said.

An arson charge filed against him has been dismissed. Williams was among four persons arrested after a fire Jan. 28 at a vacant two-story frame home at 1857 Edwardsville Road, Madison.

A conspiracy in which the fire was started in an attempt to defraud an insurance company was alleged.

A description of the robber's get-away car led to Ott's car being stopped by Wood River police in that city and the recovery of a pistol and about $180 cash.

Solar pond—a new source of energy?

(American Institute of Physics)

At the American Physical Society meeting in Chicago this year, Dr. Carl Neilsen of Ohio State University presented a paper that described the solar pond as a pool of water with a large quantity of salt dissolved in it.

The concentration of the solution increases as the pond bottom is approached.

Water heated by solar radiation that penetrates to the bottom of the pond is prevented from rising to the surface because the salt solution is heavier than the water above without dissolved salt. So the lack of circulation allows solar energy to be collected in the bottom region of the pond.

That energy is stored in the heated water as well as in the heated earth underneath. Heat-exchange pipes near the bottom of the pond provide the means for transferring the heat to external locations.

The potential for application of solar ponds can be seen in the fact that at least 25 per cent of the entire U. S. energy use is for providing low-temperature heat.

Neilsen believes solar ponds can provide this heat for agricultural applications such as crop drying, heating farm buildings, and food processing. They can also be used for general space and water heating.

Costs, where space is adequate, would be far cheaper than for other solar techniques, and would be competitive with conventional fuels, it is contended.

GC names agent in insurance revision

The Whiteman Insurance Agency of St. Louis was named by the Granite City Council last week as the city's "agent of record" in determining the amount of insurance coverage to meet the city's needs, and in seeking market sources for such coverage.

Ronald Coleman, Seventh Ward alderman and chairman of the council's finance committee, told the alderman that the Whiteman agency was the only firm to offer to survey the city's insurance requirements and compile a program of insurance action without cost at a time when the city called for bids for such proposals. The council approved a motion by Coleman that the firm be listed as the city's agent of record after Thomas Luepke, a representative of the agency, spoke before the council to explain that as the city's agent the firm would have a firmer standing in negotiating for coverage on the insurance market. Coleman and other council members have urged a complete updating of the city's insurance program, noting that much of the city-owned property now is covered for only a portion of its value, and that the city now has no indemnity insurance for members of the police department and has no liability coverage on police cars and other equipment. Coleman particularly has described the situation as "serious," noting that repeated efforts to secure coverage at "reasonable" premiums have been unsuccessful. Coleman said in earlier meetings that an insurance "package" necessary to update the city's insurance needs to meet today's inflated values may cost the city as much as $330,000 a year in annual premiums.

Luepke told the council that "today's insurance market is tough and strained," and that the city eventually will have to decide on the basis of reports that will be provided by the Whiteman agency as to whether or not it wants partial coverage or "replacement" coverage in obtaining insurance for its major properties such as the City Hall building.

The City Hall, Luepke said as an example, now is covered for $125,000, which he described as a ridiculously low figure. It would take at least a million and a half to replace the building if it were destroyed or seriously damaged, he said.

As agent of record, Luepke told the conference, the Whiteman Insurance Agency would investigate sources, premium costs, reliability and other factors involved in negotiating for insurance coverage in all of the city's varying categories.

Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward, questioned the granting of an agreement naming a city agent.

He said he thought the city would save money in seeking its own insurance sources, but Luepke explained there would be no cost for the work done by the agency except as a commission "when and if" the city accepted insurance policies acquired by the agency for the city.

On a roll call vote to name the firm as the city's agent, Whitmer and Alderman Everett Morlen of the First Ward cast the only negative votes.

(CDB) on the new middle school to be built near the Maeras Industrial Park.

According to the board spokesman, the changeover in the state administration has resulted in nearly all new members on CDB, causing the project to run about three to four weeks behind schedule.

Many items had to be reviewed with the new members. However, it was felt that bids could be sought for by the end of June, the officials said. Assistant Superintendent of Schools Wade James reported on a Title I meeting held in Chicago April 18.

James said, "Ten of us attended the State Title I workshop and found it a very informative and interpretive conference."

"We need to remember that our Title I program in reading and mathematics is designed to help all of the Madison District's educationally disadvantaged regardless of the income level."

"Our group attended all sessions and found some real information exchanged in the informal question, answer and comment period."

"We were exposed to ideas that may help us improve our Title I program."

"The rush for seats on the Amtrak was reminiscent of the Gold Rush days, but in spite of the luggage that was unmanageable, and sacks that were unmanageable, our ladies acquitted themselves well."

The parked autos belonged to Xanman Tulyasathign, 66 Oaklawn Terrace, and Roberta Hall of St. Peter's, Mo.

Neighborhood

people on every frequency. But if you are looking for a standby, listen to your neighbors.

To prevent a lot of trouble, not to mention bleed-over, the best channel to pick is the one most of the folks in your area are on.

Looks like spring is finally upon us and Cbers are busier than most folks. With the end of the nasty weather, you'll find Cbers on the roof.

Ground planes are going up and coming down. Folks take them down to clean them, get any water out and resal them.

Others are putting up new ground planes as beams. If you're wondering what the difference between a ground plane antenna and a beam antenna is, the simplest way to explain it is to say that a ground plane sends and receives signals from all directions at the same time.

A beam antenna sends and receives signals from one direction at a time.

A beam can be moved (via a rotor) to send its signal wherever the operator chooses.

Cbers all over town are busy trying either to get 10-6 or stay 10-8.

Being 10-8 — (having a good, loud station) — is very important to almost every Cber.

Some will invest money in equipment until the budget is strained to the maximum. With all the new things coming out, you can spend a fortune.

CBs have recently expanded to 40 channels and there are new radios, better microphones, antennas and beams coming out all the time. It's enough to drive you crazy.

If you're riding around some weekend and you see folks all over the tops of their houses, don't worry. It's not a flood coming.

It's just the Cbers in this town making a determined effort to reach the magical point at which they become 10-8.

Catch you later, the Lil Squaw, we're out!

U.S. plutonium ban a gamble, ignores energy realities

Press-Record Washington Bureau — President Carter's policy on nuclear fuel reprocessing and the breeder reactor is grounded in an optimism that we find hard to share.

For one thing, Mr. Carter is willing to gamble that the United States can afford to abandon development of a commercial breeder reactor for power generation without leaving the country scrambling for nuclear fuel after the 1990s.

The uranium used to fuel the present generation of nuclear power reactors is as finite as oil and gas.

Reprocessing it to provide fuel for breeder reactors offers a way to stretch out the usefulness of uranium resources almost indefinitely.

To justify putting breeder technology on the shelf, one has to subscribe to a scenario that sees no gap developing in our energy sources at the end of this century.

This would presume that oil, gas and coal and the kind of nuclear reactors now in use can meet our energy needs until a new technology arrives — probably the harnessing of the fusion process.

Given all the uncertainties, we think that presumption is a dangerous one, and many energy experts agree.

Mr. Carter is worried, of course, about the plutonium which is produced in the reprocessing cycle. So are we.

The monopoly on reprocessing technology which the United States once enjoyed has gone by the boards, and with 26 countries now operating nuclear power plants or building them, there is a brisk traffic growing in reprocessing and breeder technology.

With it grows the threat, that some countries — or even international terrorists — would use plutonium to build atomic bombs, India, for instance, did just that.

But we believe Mr. Carter is again being too optimistic about what he can accomplish by the example of abandoning plutonium as a U.S. energy source.

He hopes that other advanced nuclear nations, such as France and Germany, will agree to join us in halting exports of reprocessing technology and plutonium.

This is not just a question of making an economic sacrifice for the sake of controlling the spread of nuclear weapons.

Europeans, and the countries eager to share their nuclear technology, do not have the luxury of many options in meeting their energy needs.

Most of them have no gas and oil of their own, are at the mercy of the oil cartel and are more worried than Americans about the eventual exhaustion of the world's fossil fuel resources.

For the United States to bow out of reprocessing and breeder technology would simply weaken our ability to influence the oil cartel and to challenge its hold on the world price of energy.

We would lose one of our trump cards being held as a guarantee of sufficient energy supplies in any future squeeze on the price or availability of fossil fuels.

Control of nuclear proliferation is a serious, urgent problem.

Mr. Carter's moves, however, carry an unnecessary risk of future shortcomings in our own energy supplies. They are, at best, only a speculative first step toward gaining an international commitment to place strict controls on reprocessing technology and plutonium.

Young still face shortage of jobs

(Bureau of Labor Statistics)
One out of three employed youths 16 to 24 years old is also attending school.

An equal proportion of the unemployed youth is also in school, a situation that has not changed substantially over the past 10 years.

Young people totaling 22.6 million were in the labor force in October 1976 or 750,000 more than a year earlier.

Of these youths, 19.4 million were employed, about 875,000 more than in October 1975, and 3.1 million were unemployed, slightly below the level of a year earlier, newly-released figures show.

Employment among students increased by 340,000 from October 1975 to October 1976, the rise being concentrated among those in college.

A 535,000 increase in employment among youths not in school was shared by school dropouts and high school and college graduates.

The unemployment rate for school leavers in the labor force in October 1976 was 14 per cent, about the same as the rate for youths of the same age not enrolled in school.

For both groups there was a one percentage point decline in the jobless rate in comparison with the situation in October 1975. Youths 16 to 24 years old continued to account for close to half of all persons 16 and over who were unemployed in October.

The 750,000 rise in the youth labor force from October 1975 to October 1976 reflected both increases in their numbers and a further increase in their labor force participation rate.

Over the past 10 years, the participation rate for this group has risen from 55 per cent to 64 per cent.

The employment situation for black youths was about the same in October as a year earlier.

Among youths enrolled in school, blacks had a substantially lower labor force participation rate and over twice as high an unemployment rate as whites. Among high school graduates and dropouts, blacks also had lower labor force participation rates and higher unemployment rates.

Both the labor force participation rate and the unemployment rate for youths of Spanish origin enrolled in school were about midway between those of white and black students in October 1976.

Data tabulated separately for Mexicans and Puerto Ricans show a somewhat higher labor force participation rate for Mexican than for Puerto Rican youths.

It should be noted, however, that these two groups reside in different geographical areas of the country.

Mexican-Americans are highly concentrated in the Southwest, where many of them live in rural areas, whereas the Puerto Rican population is highly concentrated in central cities on the East Coast.

Among youths not enrolled in school, the labor force participation rate for persons of Spanish origin was similar to that for blacks and substantially below that for all whites. However, the unemployment rate was lower for these Spanish-origin youths than for their black counterparts.

About three million persons 16 to 24 years old graduated from high school in 1976. The proportion of graduates going on to college, 46 per cent, was not significantly different from that of a year earlier, and was about the same for white and black graduates.

Since the early 1960s, the proportion of black high school graduates enrolling in college has risen by over 10 percentage points while that of whites has been relatively stable, except for a temporary increase during the late 1960s.

Labor force participation rates for recent high school graduates not in college remained about as high as for those in college, but unemployment rates for both groups were about the same.

Among youths 16 to 24 years old dropped out of school during 1976 before completing high school, about the same number as in 1975. Labor force participation for these dropouts, half of whom are 16 and 17 years old, is relatively low compared with that of 1976 graduates who were not in school — 63 per cent compared with 84 per cent.

About one of three dropouts in the labor force was unemployed, the same percentage as among graduates, but a larger proportion than for the graduates.

These findings are from the latest round of school age youth conducted by the Bureau of the Census for the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Noisy truck disturbs neighborhood

To the Editor:
About 1 p.m. Wednesday, a tractor trailer truck with a refrigeration unit, running parked across the street.

It is now 9:45 a.m. Thursday and the truck is still there. No one on this block had a decent night's sleep, due to the noise.

Why doesn't this driver park in front of his home? If he has a five-ton load limit on his street, why should other people have to suffer?

A retired alderman told me that while he served on the City Council there was an ordinance passed prohibiting tractor trailer trucks parking on the city streets, except to load and unload.

If there is such an ordinance, let's get it out of the mothballs and enforce it. Then maybe we can have a little peace and quiet.

Pontoon leash law enforcement urged

To the Editor:

Leash laws apparently mean nothing to Pontoon Beach policemen if the violator is a friend.

I have lived in the same house for 30 years at 3966 Lake Street and have never had any trouble with neighbors.

Two and a half months ago I signed a contract with a neighbor letting his dogs run all over the neighborhood, ruining gardens and flowers and scattering our trash.

I have called the police and, even though the dogs are loose at will, they don't see them.

On April 17 I called the police and the police car went by my house three times before it stopped. Seems that was a signal to me.

I was told by a police commissioner that the reason the complaint wasn't served on the neighbor at first was because he was a friend of all the policemen and they tried to talk some sense into him.

I am having my neighbors who back me to sign this. My name is Mabel Fulcher.

Collegial—equality among colleagues

To the Editor:

The Executive Committee of the SIUE AAUP fails (American Association of University Professors) to understand the point of the Faculty Organization for Collective Bargaining's tactic of threatening to disavow the FOCB's meeting if the FOCB's demand to speak on its own terms was not met.

FOCB's refusal to be gavelled down resulted in the Southern Illinois University board chairman directing that the motion be cut off and inquiring about security of officers.

Confrontation may sometimes be necessary, but surely it should be undertaken only as a last resort and to obtain some crucially important objective.

This is especially true in the case of faculty who desire to achieve a collegial form of collective bargaining, which depends upon the development of a spirit of collegiality among board, faculty and administration.

In this case, the FOCB's demand to speak served no purpose that would not have been equally well accomplished by a press release or written statement—no purpose, that is, other than to enable the FOCB to speak up to its earlier public pronouncement that it would speak on April 14.

We deplore such tactics as unnecessary, unjustified and likely to have the effect of eroding the possibilities of bargaining in a collegial manner.

Indeed, the intimidating, disruptive manner in which the SIUE board acted on the first occasion was made more so by the board's decision to press the board to change its present policy and to adopt the board's stand in collective bargaining.

The disruption certainly prolonged what had already been a long meeting, thus making the board less receptive to hearing faculty groups—as well as leaving less time for the hearing which had been promised a hearing if time permitted.

The SIUE AAUP Executive Committee is disappointed at the SIUE board's failure to approve the motion to change its policy to allow faculty collective bargaining in spite of such a manner.

The board has the responsibility to exercise initiative in order to protect and promote the university as a center of learning.

Delay in moving forward with collective bargaining on the terms arrived at within the university will make it more vulnerable to external pressures and vested interests which do not understand the nature of higher education or seek to gain purposes extraneous and possibly detrimental to the university.

The AAUP will continue to press the board to change its present policy and to adopt the board's stand in a two-stage election process.

We have supplied the board with information concerning collective bargaining in the past and will continue to advance reasons and information.

The members of the Executive Committee agree with the board's consultant, David Feldman, who pointed out that collective bargaining can be an effective means for improving and developing the management of the university.

Reversal on grain export disclosure

To the Editor:

It was once written that "a wise man changes his mind; a fool never does." That old saying seemed to apply this month to U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland.

The agriculture secretary made a quick reversal of his earlier position in which he said his agency would not announce large export sales of American grain to the Soviet Union.

The People's Republic of China on a within-24-hour basis.

In addition, Bergland is apparently going to the important Administration policy one better by saying that quick announcement will make a big grain sales to all other countries as well.

The public notice system is a new public policy, a Congressional reaction to the huge 1972 Soviet Union purchases of American grain that China must American, including government officials, by surprise.

As a result of these purchases which drove up grain prices, Congress passed a law requiring exporters to notify the U.S. Department of Agriculture weekly on all new export contracts.

In addition, where sales covered 100,000 metric tons of grain or more, the exporters were required to notify the Agriculture Department within 24 hours.

Information collected in the daily and weekly reports from exporters is made public once a week by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in a single consolidated report issued each Thursday.

As a supplement to that weekly report, the Ford Administration voluntarily made public within 24 hours all 100,000-ton-plus sales to the Soviet Union and China.

During the first week in April, following delayed disclosure of grain purchases of 250,000 metric tons of optional grain soybeans, Secretary Bergland said such sales would be handled routinely in the weekly announcement of export grain sales.

It was probably as the result of considerable opposition to such routine handling of large grain sale announcements that Bergland backed off of his position and decided to announce all large sales on the same day the exporters notify the department.

Regardless of how the secretary's decision came about, it should be good news to farmers.

It is important that farmers be informed of significant grain export sales or other information that could bear on the demand for their commodities.

Further, in a market-oriented agriculture, farmers should not be disadvantaged by the government in getting information on influences prices they get for their crops.

Lifeline electricity rate 'reduction' proposal has flaws

The Illinois House Public Utilities Committee on Thursday took a perhaps predictable but nevertheless misguided step in approving "lifeline" utility rate legislation.

Originally-discussed benefits were reduced, but efforts to restrict them to senior citizens and public aid recipients failed.

At amended, the bill would reduce average rates for specified usage amounts by 11 per cent, with the difference made up through higher payments by large residential users and by commercial and industrial firms.

Such legislation receives strong support because it appears to provide "something for nothing," ostensibly reducing living costs while still providing the same aggregate utility revenue.

37-year community service by Tri-Cities Area Chamber

Multiple-year Chamber of Commerce presidents honored at a gathering of 200 persons Saturday evening were B. E. Hohl, Edwin G. Schmitt, Henry D. Karandis, Paul H. Lichtenberger, Chester L. Baker, Carl E. Mathias and A. H. Froelich.

The 21 past presidents saluted at the dinner included four deceased community leaders: E. F. Wagner, Arthur L. Laur, Harry C. Swan and Sam L. Meyer. The seven past presidents of the Women's Division also were recognized by the members of the Chamber, which was organized in 1940, and the Division, formed in 1969.

As noted at the dinner, government officials and their constituents are the key to Quad-City progress but on nearly all issues the Chamber has been able to play a constructive citizenship role. It continues to be the lone organization whose sole objective is the initiation of projects for the betterment of the local community.

While his proposals for expanding coal production could help the St. Louis region, the overall plan is so heavily-banded that it probably would make the energy problem much worse.

The President seems to assume that conservation, along with big increases in coal output and solar energy, can solve the energy problem.

This is totally unrealistic in view of projections showing that energy needs will continue to rise significantly despite effective conservation efforts.

Furthermore, there is no good reason why the President should use the "sky is falling" tactic and try to convince Americans that the nation could run out of oil in the next 10 years.

This simply is not true. The most recent data from the U.S. Geological Survey indicate the known oil reserves in this country are 40 to 64 times the total U.S. oil production in 1975.

To this can be added many years of oil supplies from foreign oil producers.

So, the United States can anticipate at least 50 years of adequate oil supplies if the government will get off the oil industry's back and permit it to produce.

Expanded controls won't provide energy

Globe-Democrat Comment — President Carter charted the right energy goals but then botched the effort by coming up with a bureaucratic "let's control-and-tax-everything" solution.

The President's program virtually ignores the urgent need to step up production of not only oil but natural gas and nuclear energy.

His plan to reduce consumption of oil by slapping a huge tax on "old" oil in three stages to raise its ceiling price from $5.17 a barrel to the world price of $15.50 a barrel would further reduce oil production if Congress were so unwise as to enact it.

This is an incredible proposal in that U.S. oil production already is falling at about six per cent a year.

President Carter reneged on his campaign promise to deplete newly discovered gas intended for interstate sale.

Instead, he recommended that the ceiling price of newly discovered gas be raised to a price equivalent to unregulated oil.

But, worse than this, he is proposing a further price control to be extended to gas sold intrastate (within states) for the first time.

This would represent a tremendous extension of controls, just the opposite of what he pledged.

Intrastate gas has proved the nation with an excellent example of how gas producers, if left alone by the government, can produce adequate supplies of gas.

By contrast, the action of the Federal Power Commission in holding the price of interstate gas to a quarter to a third of its actual value for more than 20 years has produced a growing shortage.

If intrastate gas is placed under controls, it is a foregone conclusion that it will be in short supply before very long.

President Carter did provide some hope of increasing nuclear power by proposing a stepped-up program for developing enriched uranium and cutting taxes on nuclear energy.

Environmental barriers that have stretched out construction time of a nuclear plant to almost 10 years.

But he is putting almost a complete damper on the most promising nuclear reactors which would provide about 40 times as much energy from U.S. uranium as the present nuclear fission process.

In discussing plutonium, the debate has virtually passed over the fact that as an energy source, plutonium is the most abundant energy resource on Earth today.

Leonard J. Koch, vice president of the Illinois Power Company in Decatur, who has been involved in the fast breeder reactor program for about 25 years, says that as a nuclear industry, points out that a pound of plutonium is equivalent to more than 8,000 barrels of oil.

Since the U.S. has 250,000 tons of uranium in storage that can be converted into plutonium and has 700,000 tons of proven reserves, a million tons of probable reserves, a million tons of possible reserves and another million tons of "speculative" reserves, simple arithmetic shows that plutonium offers the nation and the world a virtually inexhaustible supply of energy.

The 250,000 tons of uranium along could provide the energy equivalent of about 2.5 trillion barrels of oil.

If Americans are true to the spirit of ingenuity demonstrated in the past and not impeded by government, they have the capability of developing new sources of energy just as they have done from the age of wood to coal to oil.

Mr. Carter's heavy reliance on taxes and incentives to achieve conservation also is a bad strategy.

It is doubtful that a significant gas saving could be achieved by putting a 5-cent tax on gasoline each year that consumption rises by levying a big tax on cars that get less than 12 miles to a gallon.

Conservation of this kind would hurt those who can least afford higher fuel and car costs — persons who drive to work and raise families who need a bigger automobile.

There is a real danger that this kind of tax manipulation could cause a major slowdown in the auto industry. If it did, the whole economy could go into a slump.

Finally, all of the taxes Mr. Carter proposed were enacted, the government could be collecting from $50 billion to $75 billion a year by 1985.

Mr. Carter says the plan would be to rebate this money to Americans but he didn't offer a specific method on how this would be done.

Knowing how the federal government spends money there is no assurance Washington would either rebate or use these taxes or use it in ways that would help the energy program.

The best solution to the energy shortage would be to get the government out of the energy business.

Things have been going downhill ever since the EPA started regulating natural gas in 1964. A massive new layer of controls, taxes and energy bureaucrats would only make matters worse.

Congress could do the country a tremendous favor by taking free enterprise approaches to accomplishing President Carter's goal — decontrolling the oil industry, lifting controls on newly discovered natural gas and providing incentives for achieving drastic savings in energy rather than levying more taxes on Americans who already are badly overtaxed by the federal government.

Awards highlight BPW public relations dinner

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer
Special awards to media representatives and key members of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club were among the highlights of the club's annual Public Relations - Awards Night dinner party last week at Charlie's Restaurant.

Featured speaker was Kathi McDonald of Channel 4 Newsroom, who presented her articulate version of the way things are in the area of television news broadcasting today, mixed with humorous incidents concerning her career and philosophies.

In a question and answer period, Mrs. McDonald responded to such topics as:

Electronic skin testing procedures used elsewhere to measure viewer response to a newscaster; the focusing by advertisers on women between 18 and 45 years, considered to be those who control the purse strings; the importance of ratings and the equal significance of letters written to the station by viewers, which must be shown to the Federal Communications Commission under licensing provisions.

Also-honored at the dinner were media representatives, Paul Halbert, general manager of the Press-Record and Valerie Eveneden of the news staff; and Bob Baker, WGNW manager, and Shirley Adams of the station staff.

In the business session, conducted by Mrs. Sylvia Wright, president, plans were finalized for delegates and others to attend the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's convention, which concluded yesterday in Chicago.

Those attending the state meeting were Lorene Sadrakula, Linda Wetton, Louise Smith, Rosalie Stern, Rose Ezell, Rose Stephenson, Verna Lengyel, Annellen Smith, Elsie Elmore, Hazel Rollins, Beverly Huff and Mrs. Wright.

Miss Linda Wetton, the local BPW club's "Young Careerist," was presented the Verna Lengyel Scholarship award for 1977 by Mrs. Louise Smith, Foundation chairman.

Miss Annellen Smith, coordinator of the Individual Development Program for area clubs, was presented a "Leader Ship" plaque, and Mrs. Judith McCann, winner of the club "Speak-Out" event, received a "Nike" award.

It was announced that Miss Smith will serve as membership chairman for the state BPW in 1977-78.

A scrapbook of news clippings and photographs was given to Mrs. Wright by Betty Roberson, public relations and dinner chairman, as a memento of her year in office.

Mrs. Elvira Thurber, Mrs. Ida Dant and Mrs. Marie Hampton, 30-year club members, and Miss Mary Frances Lynch, a 26-year member, were accorded special tribute.

Also honored were past presidents, Mrs. Thurber, Mrs. Verna Lengyel, Mrs. Delores Allen, Mrs. Helen Bischoff, Mrs. Emilee Alford, Mrs. Lil Marzull, Miss Annellen Smith and Mrs. Pauline Weir, all of whom were in attendance.

Mr. McDonald joined the CBS-owned St. Louis television station in January 1976 and achieved popularity with many viewers as a sportscaster, one of the first women to successfully broadcast sports news in this area.

About six weeks ago she was "abruptly" changed to general reporting "on the street" with a live mini-camera crew.

The newscaster noted that KMOX-TV is the only station in the country to use all live mini-camera and video tape in its news programming.

The technique enables the station to broadcast directly from the scene of action without having to process film, as is usual, she explained. The station itself is completely computerized and action caught by the cameras on the streets can be directly focused to the television screen at home, she said.

and abroad, including Japan, frequently tour the studio and inspect the equipment to learn about the programming techniques, Mrs. McDonald said.

"We've been using the live mini-cameras for the past three years and ours are about obsolete, so we are getting ready to purchase new equipment," she said.

Noting she had no formal educational background for her job as newscaster, Mrs. McDonald said all her training came "on the job."

She was in nurses training at the University of Colorado at Denver when she left "not entirely voluntarily "they didn't have room for 75 of us") to work at KLZ AM-FM Radio in Denver.

Within three days of being hired by the station, she was writing her own material, on the air with a news show and "the station manager had disappeared."

Mrs. McDonald went on to co-produce and anchor the "Nine News at Noon" for KBTU, the ABC affiliate in Denver, remaining there from September 1972 until March 1975. She was a news reporter, co-anchor and investigative reporter for KTVB-TV, the NBC affiliate in Boise, Idaho, before joining the Channel 4 Newsroom staff.

Many other awards were presented to club members by chairmen of various committees at the awards night dinner.

Among those honored were Florence Moore, Ruth Walk, Annellen Smith, Linda Wetton, Louise Smith, LaVelle Stephens, Rosalie Stern, Lois Weston, Kathryn Smithson, Ollie Derr, Gladys Newman, Pauline Weir and Judith McCann, winner of the "Nike" award in the Individual Development Program.

Newcomers to the club within the past year also were accorded tribute. They include Jeanetta Williams, Karen Neal, Norma Mendoza, Linda Wetton, Rose Stevenson, Mary Ann Bright, Jeanette Scannell, Dorothy Young, Shirley Motes, Jean Zaring and Rose Ezell.

U.S. can afford adequate national defense—Price

"The United States can afford to provide the resources necessary for an adequate national defense. We cannot afford to do otherwise," Cong. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) said in a statement today.

Cong. Price, chairman of the House Committee on Armed Services, stressed the nation's need to respond to real problems and actual policies in the real world. "Our national defense requirements are dictated by external developments, potential external threats, beyond our control," he said.

"I have never doubted the essential wisdom and good sense of the American people," Price said, pointing to national poll results showing that Americans are willing to spend what is necessary to avoid falling behind in defense capability.

"National defense is not in competition with social programs. If a defense program provides necessary capability for our national security, one cannot justify trying to cut it by saying money is needed somewhere else," Cong. Price noted that the Constitution states the nation will promote the general welfare and provide for the common defense. "It's no and or proposition," he said.

Price concluded by calling for what he termed a national system for determining national priorities and a re-examination of the intent of budget reform. "I do not think the American people will stand for less."

The home of Udell Bischoff, 3111 E. 23rd St., was burglarized and several antique items were stolen while the owners were absent from the house, it was reported at 5:20 p.m. Saturday.

The burglar entered through outside cellar doors into the basement, then twisted a knob on a locked door to gain access to the ground floor.

Rooms were ransacked and an inventory is being compiled to determine what items are missing.

Known to be stolen, so far, are: An antique wooden clock, 12 inches tall with glass doors at the front; a jewelry box, also wood and an antique, containing various pieces of jewelry; and an antique hall lamp, pink in color with inlaid jewels at the top and on the base.

No value of the items was given.

In Memoriam 33

In Loving Memory of
LLOYD BLUMENSTOCK
April 27, 1905
I needed the quiet, no prison my bed
But a beautiful valley of bleeding instead;
A place to grow richer, in Jesus to hide
I needed the quiet, so He drew me aside
Sadly missed by
Wife, Son, Daughters and Family

In Loving Memory of
ADRIAN RAINS
April 25, 1906
He did no one a last farewell,
Not even a goodbye.
He was gone before I knew it and only God knows why.
They say time heals all sorrow and helps us to forget.
But time so far has only proved how much I miss him yet.
God gave me strength to face it, and the courage to face the blow.
But what it meant to lose him,
no one will ever know.
My heart aches with sadness,
my eyes shed many tears,
God knows how much I miss him.
And will throughout the years.
Sadly missed by
Wife and Children are, and we'll know where you
